ABOUT MY SELF:

A driven and multifaceted professional with a robust academic foundation and hands-on experience in social and cultural spheres. As the co-founder of a dynamic NGO defending children's rights, I bring a proven history of leadership, advocacy, and impactful community development. A versatile novelist and freelance sociocultural researcher and an interpreter/translator, I am deeply committed to exploring and enriching social and cultural understanding through creative expression and scholarly inquiry. Holding two bachelor's degrees in English education and sociology, I blend educational expertise with a passion for meaningful societal change.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING:

[15/10/2011 – 17/10/2016] B.Ed (Eng) Bachelor of Education in English. Al-Hamdaniyah University.

[24/08/2020 – 20/06/2024] B.Soc.Sc. Bachelor of Social Sciences (Society, Culture and communication). Vytautas Magnus University

ORGANIZATIONAL SKILLS:

Strong foundation in sociology and communication, bring a unique interdisciplinary approach to organizational management: (Strategic Communication, Diversity and Inclusion, Team Collaboration, Problem-Solving, Policy Development and Information management).

MANAGEMENT AND LEADERSHIP SKILLS:

My background in leading and humanitarian affairs positions me strongly for roles in NGO management, leadership, and relations. I have extensive experience managing emergency projects, including multi-faceted social interventions focused on youth and children. Following the Sinjar crisis in 2014, I played a pivotal role in establishing an NGO dedicated to child rights, showcasing my ability to lead impactful initiatives in crisis settings.
